To Charles Alexander

South Weymouth, Mass. July 4, 1904

Dear Mr. Alexander: Enclosed I am sending considerable matter, but I am very anxious that all of it appear in this week's paper. I will see you about it Tuesday.

You will note that my name is mentioned twice in the correspondence and I hope you will see that it does not appear anywhere else in your paper this week.

The editorial on John F. Cook I think you will find will increase your circulation in Washington; it will certainly attract some attention there. Yours very truly,

[Booker T. Washington]

To William Harvey Goler¹

South Weymouth, Mass. July 4, 1904

My dear Sir: I wonder if you have ever made an application to Mr. Andrew Carnegie for a library building for your college? If you have not, perhaps I can help you to secure one. I do not want to make the attempt, however, if you have plans under way that will secure the same result. I am very anxious that while Mr. Carnegie is giving away his money that our race be benefited as much as possible. Yours truly,

[Booker T. Washington]
