

The BOOKER T. WASHINGTON Papers

We think it cannot be too emphatically stated that not one cent of this money will go to help the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute nor to the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, and in no way relieve the pressing needs of these institutions, but every cent will go toward helping the rural schools, according to Miss Jeanes' wish and directions.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON
HOLLIS BURKE FRISSELL

Tuskegee Student, 19 (May 4, 1907), 1. Reprinted from the Philadelphia Record.

Helen Van Wyck Lockman¹ to Julius Robert Cox

[New York City] May Seventh [1907]

Dear Sir The Huntington place adv. on Sunday is charmingly located by the Harbor side with no road or nuisance of any kind between.

It is a double old fashioned house with parlor, large living room, large dining room with three windows on the water and eight bedrooms. An extra could be provided for a man in one of the outbuildings. There is a private lane leading down a hillside to the house. Perhaps three acres of land are enclosed with it. I own six hundred feet of the water front. There are four stalls in the barn. I have another barn on my land should extra stalls be required. The modern improvements are being put in now. Possession June 1st. Rent for four months or longer $1000.00.² Should you wish to see it please notify me.

(Mrs) M. A. Lockman

ALS Con. 7 BTW Papers DLC.

¹ Helen Van Wyck (Mrs. Myron A.) Lockman (1863-1944) taught for many years at the Bovee School in New York.

² Four days later Lockman acknowledged receipt of $100 from Cox, representing BTW, toward a total of $750 according to agreement in the lease. (Lockman to Cox, May 11, 1907, Con. 7, BTW Papers, DLC.)